

The Ballad of the Rainforest by RL5

If we don't act to keep forests alive,

None of the animals will survive.

This could be your final warning,

You might wake up to global warming!

Stop all of the deforestation,

Or there'll be no future for the next generation.

This could be your final warning,

You might wake up to global warming!

It should be your duty,

To protect and enjoy all our beauty!

This could be your final warning,

You might wake up to global warming!

Now they're ruining our soil,

So you can have your palm oil!

This could be your final warning,

You might wake up to global warming!

Please don't destroy the vegetation,

Just think a little....hesitation.

This could be your final warning,

You might wake up to global warming!
